Sustainability Summer Programme – 30th June to 21st July 2022

At our 2022 Sustainability Summer School programme, we offer students the chance to join our world class academic colleagues from the College of Engineering, Mathematics, and Physical Sciences to look at the concept of Sustainability and how STEM can help society work towards this goal. Within this accredited course (7.5 ECTS or 3/4 US credits) students will explore different areas of STEM, and then a single area of focus within a project, with a view to encouraging and inspiring innovations by bringing people together from all over the world to work on practical solutions.

The students on this programme will share social activities and trips with the International Summer School to give everyone an even wider range of international perspectives and opportunities to make connections outside of their own classes.

This programme is also open for application at a cost of £2,500 for the course and includes accommodation, social activities and trips, and other associated programme costs. We are delighted to be able to offer students one of our scholarship places on this programme as well at the reduced price of £1,975 – a 25% scholarship contribution. Please note that we do not need nominations for these and there are a limited number available on a first come first serve basis.
